

AVTEC Denali Training Fund - FY14 - Building Maintenance
Quarterly Narrative Report
Due: April 15, 2013

1. Progress toward performance outcomes.

The next class has been officially scheduled for May 12-23, 2014. The only activities that have been taking place during this quarter are updates, fine tuning and adjustments made in order to improve performance and enhance the training for that group.

The Instructors reported the following information: "We've been working over curriculum and made some changes to the schedule. Also, made a few improvements to the labs. Nothing big to report just some minor tweaks. As you know we haven't conducted another class so as the spring session gets closer, we'll be ramping up preparations."

2. Challenges, barriers, or concerns regarding project progress.

Documented above and in previous report, no additional information to add.

3. Lessons learned in the areas of project administration and management, project implementation, partnership relationships and other related areas.

Nothing new, all documented in last report.

4. Technical assistance requests that assist with the successful completion of the project or program.

None at this time. Thank you for the continued support.
